(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Prices traversed a considerable range in the stock market to-day, but the net changes from last week's closing are small and insignificant outside of a few cases. The early tentiency was downward, followed by a vigorous recovery, which was not fully held, but the closing was steady.

The selling centered upon Pennsylvania, in which another day's enormous business was done. About a hundred thousand shares of this stock were traded in during the first hour, carrying it down to ill of 14 above last week's low level. United States Steel preferred was also under pressure and failed to share to any extent in the recovery. The general moved in sympathy with Pennsylvania, There was an organized buil more merger. Consolidated Gas moved downwards away from the group on neceunt of the published assertions that its franchises were defective. market, the value of the come sanguine estimates of the coming abundance of thinds.

The showing of last week's currency movement was accepted as evidence that the interior requirements have been practically satisfied. But the foreign safer ground for optimism over the money market. The value of the money market, the value of above $160,000, is higher than for any month since October of 180, over the imports of $8.489,000 is also greater than for any month since October of 180, over the imports of $8.489,000 is also greater than for any month since of the exports over the imports of $8.489,000 is also greater than for any month since of the exports over the imports of $8.489,000 is also greater than for any month since of the exports. The explanation of the current inward movement of gold is thus made very clear. To-day's engagements for import reached $2.500,000, and it is believed that the movement has not yet exhausted itself. The rise in call money rates to-day was probably connected with on the United States Steel preferred stock.

The bond market was dull and rather fregular. Total sules, par value, $1.81, 200. United States old 4s declined 1-4 per cent, on the last call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were 518,800 chares.

"The Proud Prince."

That the public is prompt to recognize a big effort in dramatic art has been shown by the crowded attendances that have everywhere placed the stamp of success upon E. H. Sothern's eleborate production of "The Proud Prince," which he presents here Thursday and Friday, with Friday matines.

Mr. Sothern's production is unusually notable from many standpoints. It is big in effects, in sage crowds, in dramatic spectacle, in costuming and scenery.

The Bijou.

The Bijou.

The Bijou.

The Bijou Theatre has had larger audiences than last night, but it never had one more enthusiastic than that which appliaded to actors and actresses in "Her Marriage Vow," which opened a week's engagement at the popular play-house.

The play is one replete with good mechanical effects, fine scenery and a capable presenting company. The railroad scene—two trains going in opposite directions at full speed—is a fine one, appealing strongly to those who daily engage in railroading, it is a melodrama, pure and simple, dealing with people is the humble walks of life, in which the aristocratic villain meets with the swift and certain retribution of a man who invades the home and destroys the home of a devoted father.

The comedy role, Ebenezer Chubb, in the capacity of storekeeper and postmaster, is most amusing, his courtship being awkward, bungling and meeting with frequent interruptions. There is a mattine this afternoon, with performances nightly.
